

2 MARCH 2020CIMIC'S CPB CONTRACTORS TO DELIVER REGIONAL TRANSPORT INFRASTRUCTURE IN SOUTH AUSTRALIA

CIMIC Group company CPB Contractors has been selected by the South Australian Government to deliver three important projects under the Port Wakefield to Port Augusta Regional Projects Alliance (RPA).

In an alliance with the Department of Planning, Transport and Infrastructure, Aurecon Australasia and GHD, CPB Contractors will deliver the Joy Baluch AM Bridge Duplication in Port Augusta; the Port Wakefield Overpass and Highway Duplication; and the Augusta Highway Planning Project located between Port Augusta and Port Wakefield.

The projects, funded by the South Australian and Australian governments, will generate revenue of approximately $236.8 million to CPB Contractors.

CIMIC Group Chief Executive Officer Juan Santamaria said: "CPB Contractors will draw on its proven capability to efficiently deliver these major road projects through an alliance style contract, consistent with our strategy of effectively managing risk. These three upgrades will provide improved road safety, reduced traffic congestion and greater network resilience for the communities of regional South Australia."

CPB Contractors Managing Director Diego Zumaquero said: "We are pleased to be working with the South Australian Government to ensure that these infrastructure projects are delivered safely and according to schedule. A key focus will be on maximising social and economic benefits to the regional and indigenous community, including employment, training and economic opportunities."

Work will commence this year and is scheduled to be completed in 2022.
